Abstract
This study aims to determine the influence of transformational leadership, work motivation on employee performance mediated by Job Satisfaction (Empirical Study on the High Court of East Nusa Tenggara). The job satisfaction variable here functions as a mediating variable which researchers want to prove that it has an impact on employee performance. The company that was sampled in this study was the east nusa Tenggara high prosecutor's office. Mining work is a type of heavy work that requires work involvement from employees in order to achieve company goals, therefore a supervisor is needed who is able to move or direct employees to be involved in their work, besides that with a motivating language it is hoped that employees will be more involved in their work. This research was conducted on 230 employees working at the east nusa Tenggara high prosecutor's office, belu district prosecutor's office, west sumba district prosecutor's office, kupang city district prosecutor's office, kupang district prosecutor's office and sikka district attorney's office. where the results obtained transformational leadership and work motivation have a significant effect on job satisfaction. However, it does not have a direct effect on employee performance. Therefore, the east nusa Tenggara high prosecutor's office needs to maintain regular internal training within the organization and must increase the provision of rewards and punishments to employees who work very well.

Tolerance limits error used is 5% (α=0.05) with base taking decision as following:

1. If the p-value < 0.05 then H₀ is rejected that is, there is significant influence. Conclusion drawn, decision hypothesis accepted.
2. If the p-value > 0.05 then H₀ is accepted It means No there is significant influence, conclusions drawn, decisions hypothesis rejected.

Discussion Of Research Results

hypothesis First test influence transformational leadership to work motivation. Result of study showing there is positive and significant influence from transformational leadership to work motivation. From the results this can showing the more Good practice transformational leadership in organization, then will the more tall work motivation from employees. Transformational leadership related with encouraging leadership motivation its members so own desire Work more enterprising in reach more results Good exceed the specified target limit. Following part amount indicator transformational leadership ie ideal influence, inspirational motivation, stimulation intellectual and personal policies (S. Siswanto et al., 2020). Transformational leadership can control internal and external changes every person inside company, where in the end created motivation will make worker can Work outside working hours so that productivity improvement and achievement of organizational targets achieved (Eliyana & Ma'arif, 2019). Transformational leadership have connection positive with work motivation (S. Siswanto et al., 2020). Research results This in line with research conducted by (S. Siswanto et al., 2020) and also (Eliyana & Ma'arif, 2019) which shows exists influence from transformational leadership to work motivation.

Test results hypothesis second showing there is influence significant from transformational leadership to job satisfaction. this showing that the more tall transformational leadership is practiced in A organization so matter the will can increase satisfaction Work from employee. this can happen Because Transformational leadership is capacity to direct and deliver motivation its members in achievement more results Good from those prepared at the start. Leadership has influence big to job satisfaction (Purwanto et al., 2020). When subordinate believe and have attachment in a manner emotional with leader, then leader is made example furthermore show supportive behavior for example exists trust, appreciation, serenity in the sense of the moment. No There is point meeting between mark reply services obtained worker or company with level reply expected service workers, things to emphasize here when worker feel service accepted work in accordance hope, then worker will feel job satisfaction (Taryaman, 2016). Research results This support results study previously carried out by (Primary, 2021); (Purwanto et al., 2020); (Suryani et al., 2020) which shows exists influence from transformational leadership to job satisfaction.

hypothesis third test influence from transformational leadership to employee performance and results showing No there is influence from transformational leadership to employee performance. this showing that transformational leadership is not possible factor influence performance from employee. Transformational leadership influences to employee performance adapt leadership styles. A leader is personal figure who has task in give direction, and guidance its members including need support its members For achieve company targets. There is influence positive between transformational leadership and employee performance (Jnaneswar & Ranjit, 2020). However results study This showing No exists influence from transformational leadership to employee performance maybe Because type organization This with strict and inclined hierarchy not enough flexible not enough suitable For type leader transformational in push performance more employees ok. Study This No in line with study previously conducted by (Laksmana & Riana, 2020) disclose that transformational leadership influential positive to employee performance.

Result of testing hypothesis fourth showing there is significant influence from work motivation towards job satisfaction so hypothesis 2 can supported. this showing high motivation from employee will impact on satisfaction more work high. By and large work motivation is exists encouragement desire For work. thrust desire and will every personal purpose For reach purpose and description related motivation with How his spirits Work more hard with give all Power effort To use achieve the specified target company (Suryani et al., 2020); (Purwanto et al., 2020). Work motivation is very necessary in a company, because with work motivation the he hoped every personal inside a company can worker more good, lively, enthusiastic For reach more productivity _ high. When employees achieve targets and be productive matter the will impact on satisfaction it works. Research results This in line with study previously carried out by (Rinaldi & Riyanto, 2021); (Primary, 2021) which shows exists influence from work motivation towards job satisfaction.

hypothesis fifth test influence from work motivation towards employee performance and results testing showing This showing No there is influence significant from work motivation towards employee performance so hypothesis 6 fails supported. Employee with high motivation _ Of course will more enterprising and kind in Work so that impact on performance in a manner individual nor organizational. However results research that shows No exists influence from work motivation towards performance employee because performance employee in organization No depend on the individual, so performance good individual _ No impact on performance in a manner whole. Research results This No in line with (Rinaldi & Riyanto, 2021), which stated there is influence work motivation towards employee performance.

hypothesis sixth test influence from satisfaction Work to employee performance. Result of study showing No there is influence from job satisfaction against employee performance. this _ showing that job satisfaction is not possible factor _ increase employee performance from employee. Job satisfaction is thought positive about the task at hand based on evaluation from results work. Job satisfaction as perception worker to how much Good results accomplished work _ than needed _ through his job. Job satisfaction is behavior worker on not quite enough the answer can rated as exists totality from aspect the work done (Luthans in Siswanto., 2020). When employees satisfied with work, p the will impact on evaluation positive on the job so that employee feel like so that will more Good in work that impacts performance _ employee the. However results study This showing No there is influence from job satisfaction against employee performance caused, performance from employee in organization Lots depends factor other No just factor individual employee with satisfaction tall other. Study This No in line with study previously carried out by (Triwahyuni & Ekowati, 2017); (Darma & Supriyanto, 2017) which stated exists influence from job satisfaction against employee performance.

hypothesis seventh test influence from transformational leadership to employee performance with mediation job satisfaction. Research results showing that job satisfaction no can mediate influence from transformational leadership to employee performance. So that hypothesis in study This fail supported. Study This fail supported Because track from job satisfaction against employee performance no own influence significant so that condition happening mediation No fulfilled. Research results This No in line with study from (S. Siswanto et al., 2020) which shows Transformational leadership have influence with job satisfaction, and job satisfaction influential with employee performance. matter This show job satisfaction as variable mediation between transformational leadership to employee performance.

hypothesis eighth test influence from work motivation towards performances with mediation job satisfaction. Research results showing that job satisfaction no can mediate influence from work motivation towards employee performance. So that hypothesis in study This fail supported. Study This fail supported Because track from job satisfaction against employee performance no own influence significant so that condition happening mediation No fulfilled. Research results This No in line with study from stated _ connection job satisfaction to work motivation where is the result show that work motivation influential to employee performance.
